

WORLD BANKING FORUM

| partnership packages

Warm welcome to C-suite banking society

You are in the room where banks admit what's broken — and ask who can help fix it.

Welcome to World Banking Forum — where decision-makers stop being polite and start getting practical.

Where partnerships are forged not over tired coffee breaks, but across gamified dinners, roundtable debates, and strange-but-effective networking rituals.

You won't find hundreds of expo booths. You won't find filler and sales pitches.

You will find 150+ C-level bankers.

And you'll be right there with them — not pitching to them, but alongside them, a part of their closed community.

As a partner, your brand becomes part of the conversation — not just a logo on a screen. Whether in person or through our extended reach (5.5K+ livestream viewers, 3K+ on LinkedIn), you'll position your solution exactly where the industry is paying attention.

The Forum's formats are designed to break the badge-and-brochure pattern:

Think: real-time co-creation, open-sourced insight sessions, interactive city tours, and dinners that feel more like strategy labs than banquets.

This isn't sponsorship. It's smart market entry — into the minds of the people who shape banking agendas.

We've designed partnership options to be modular, results-focused, and surprisingly human. No fluff. Just clarity, connection, and positioning that actually sticks.

If your product solves a real banking problem — this is your room.
Turn the page and let's find your seat.
